

Jackson's

Artists' Oil Colour

I like to use the Jackson's range of oils because when I'm working on a large scale they offer superb value whilst still maintaining quality for the larger quantities I need to use.

My other options would be to use large tubes of "artist quality" oil from other manufacturers which would be too expensive or use their "student" type ranges where the quality of the paint just isn't good enough.

I particularly love the cadmium yellow pale genuine. I was on the hunt for a large tube of genuine cadmium yellow at a good price when I came across the Jackson's range. I couldn't believe that I could get a large tube of genuine cadmium at such a good price. I was not disappointed, for the money it is unrivalled in quality.

James Tebbutt - Professional Artist
www.jamestebbutt.com

A range of artists oil colour which offers unbeatable value for money without compromising quality. A combination of the finest modern pigments and refined linseed oils mean that these paints are permanent and lightfast. These paints offer vibrant colour with a buttery consistency. They mix well with other oil colours and surpass many leading brands in their performance and affordability.

